

call for proposals

°efp future frames – generation next of european cinema

at the Karlovy Vary International Film Festival and online!

the programme will present

10 European film students/graduates in the framework of the Karlovy Vary International Film Festival (KVIFF June 30 – July 8) the filmmakers should be available in Karlovy Vary from July 2 to July 6, 2023.

The films will be selected by the Karlovy Vary International Film Festival.

Gender balance, diversity & inclusion are important for EFP. We appreciate and encourage submissions that reflect the diversity of filmmakers.

KVIFF will accept two submissions per country.

To ensure a better diversity of the programme, please consider that at least one of the films must be by a female filmmaker and/or from a filmmaker of diverse background.

nomination criteria:

- the nominated director is a student/graduate (2022/23) from a film-, artschool or university worldwide
- the graduate film is produced in 2022 or 2023
- the film shouldn't have had its premiere earlier than August 1, 2022
- the film shall be a short- or mid-length (up to 60 minutes) production
- the film needs to be a Czech premiere
- the director is able to be present at KVIFF (July 2 – July 6, 2023)

the programme includes:

- Presentation of the 10 directors in 4 screening slots during KVIFF 2023 (screenings will be followed by a Q&A with the director)
 - Tailor-made hybrid industry programme for the participants (incl. meetings and pitching opportunities with/for industry professionals (producers, sales agents, festival programmers, funding representatives, broadcaster/distributors etc)
 - Pitching training session
 - Master Class and professional feedback by an internationally recognized director
 - Online presentation of all participants on EFP's and KVIFF's website
 - Social media campaign on EFPs channels
 - Europe! cocktail in honour of the 10 selected directors with press attending (including presentation and a photocall)
 - Advertisement in Variety and Festival Catalogue
 - continued media partnership with Variety (feature on the directors in the Variety weekly), continued partnership with T-Port (yearlong presentation of all films) and again expected partnerships with cineuropa and Fred Film Radio.
-

the programme covers:

- 4 hotel nights in Karlovy Vary (covered by the festival)
 - Round Trip (we will offer the most suitable connection considering time and environmental criteria)
 - Festival accreditation
-

participation fee:

If your director will be selected by the Karlovy Vary International Film Festival, the financial contribution for the participation in Future Frames amounts € 800 including travel costs (in case the pandemic situation doesn't allow travelling, the respective amount will be spend for additional advertising/promotion).

submission:

We agree with the a.m. selection criteria and participate in the nomination process of the event. We have selected the following young director(s):

* Please provide the below via email.

- EFP member institution
- Name of the director
- Original- and English title of the film
- Film School/University
- Contact details director (phone and email)
- Contact details school (contact person / phone and email)
- Vimeo link to stream the film with English subtitles (please note that KVIFF also accepts work in progress versions of the film for the nomination, ideally combined with further work examples of the director)

Please note a DCP with English subtitles needs to be available for the festival!

nomination deadline

Friday, March 3, 2023

Please e-mail the information to Nora Goldstein: goldstein@efp-online.com

Kindly let us also know if you are NOT planning to participate in FUTURE FRAMES this year.